From Our President

It's May – sunshine, apple blossoms, robins, and sports cars. And, of course, insurance for those cars. When any vehicle is relatively new, it's pretty easy for an adjuster to establish what its value is in the event of a loss. As vehicles age, though, it becomes more and more difficult to make sure your classic, collector, antique, or custom vehicle is properly insured.

If you purchase a "Standard" or "Actual Cash Value" policy, the insurance company's limit of liability for a physical damage loss or theft will be the lesser of: The vehicle's actual cash value (depreciated value) at the time of the loss, the amount necessary to repair the vehicle, or any applicable limit of liability shown on the Declarations Page of the policy.

If you purchase a "Stated Value" policy, the company's limit of liability is the same as that of a standard policy. The insurer is obligated to pay the lesser of the stated amount, the cost of repairs (not to exceed the stated amount), or the vehicle's actual cash value. There seems to be a common misconception that a person will automatically get the stated value in the event of a loss. That value helps determine your premium costs. When the vehicle is damaged or stolen, though, it does not guarantee you a settlement equal to the stated value.

The only policy that guarantees what amount you will receive if your vehicle is totaled or stolen is an "Agreed Value" policy. Under such a policy, the insurer's liability is the lesser of the agreed amount or the cost to repair the vehicle (not to exceed the agreed amount). The policy does not include an actual cash value clause. You and your agent must agree upon the "agreed amount" of coverage before your policy is issued. That amount should represent the true market value of the car at the time the policy is written. If the market value changes during the policy period, the agreed amount can be changed by endorsement. You should also make any necessary changes at each renewal, so the policy continues to accurately reflect the vehicle's market value.

The bottom line is – purchase the policy that meets your needs, and then keep current on your appraisals. The burden to prove what your Corvette is really worth rests with you.

So, do your homework, then relax. Let's have a safe, accident-free 2014. Don't forget to save the wave!

News for Members

Editor's Notes:

The media has been fairly quiet this month with Corvette announcements. The Corvette Museum did make the news with the rescued of the seventh and eighth Corvette out of the sink hole.

The seventh was the 1.5 millionth Corvette, a 2009 arctic white convertible donated by GM. The last to be rescued was the 2001 Mallett Hammer Z06 on April 9th. GM plans to restore all 8 Corvettes at no cost to the museum.

Hosting an Event:

Have you ever thought you might like to host or chair an event but weren't sure what it would take? Questions like, how do I put a flyer together, who do I call, what do I have to set up and with whom.

Well we've got you covered. If you're interested or just curious about what's involved here are some contacts for you.

If it's a social event (drive and dine, breakfast, etc.) just contact our social director Janet Litrenta and she can provide the details and put you in touch with someone who can assist you. If it's a competition event (rally, drag race, etc.) just contact our competition director Mike Sprague and he can provide the details and put you in touch with someone who can assist you.

And if it's an event that was done the previous year, you can contact the host of that event for the how to's. For instance Sandy Bechtel our president hosted HP at the Zoo last year. She has a binder with all the details that she can pass along to the next host.

Need assistance with a flyer? We have some great resources. Scott Bauries, a former newsletter editor can help. He's a busy guy, so if he isn't available, Gloria our webmaster can assist. She also has contact information for Scott.

It's as simple as that. We are always looking for folks to host or chair an event, so take the plunge; it can be a fun and a rewarding experience. Plus you get points!

Fun facts from the year 1978

LOOKING FOR SOMETHING DIFFERENT TO ADD TO YOUR 'VETTE? HOW ABOUT A CAR TELEPHONE?

Not too long ago, CN had a visitor. Mr. Sandy Moser of Ferndale, Michigan, who is in the communications business, told us he was looking for a car telephone he could install himself in his 1977 Corvette — one which would not deface the car's interior. All the phones he came across required a large trunk unit and a special antenna designed for a fiberglass bodied car, so he decided to put his own package together.

He used a trunk unit 10 1/4" wide x 12" deep and 4" high. The unit fits into a keyed locking bracket, which Sandy installed on the deck behind the driver's seat. He mounted a G.A.M. antenna on the gas tank lid and says it works great in a fiberglass body. The control head mounts nicely on the arm rest.

The time it took to install the entire unit? Just 30 minutes. And Sandy can dial calls direct from the car or go through a mobile operator.

If you're interested in a similar installation, you can contact him at: Radio Active Communications Co., Inc., 3270 Hilton Road, Ferndale, Michigan 48220.

Air Induction/Cold Air Intake

Want to add 10 to 15 horsepower to your C5 or C6 and not spend an arm and a leg? Try an air induction system mod. It's easy to do and doesn't require any modifications to your corvette. Simply remove your existing air cleaner, air intake duct and hoses. Replace with a low restriction aftermarket system and you're ready to go. There are several manufactures to choose from, K&N, Blackwing, and Vortex to name a few.

If you don't mind making a few modifications and spending a little more, you can gain another 10 or so ponies with a cold air intake system. And add a high flow cat back exhaust system mod to take full advantage of your new intake.
